

THE PACESETTER WAY HUDDLE NOTES

We worked hard last week to overcome the shyness in speaking up about how we're each committing to personal development. Way to go with our rushing points! Our Pacesetter Way focus last week was:

Commit to Personal Development: Challenge yourself to be better. Never be satisfied with the status quo. Ask for feedback regularly and welcome it. Treat mistakes as learning opportunities. Assume your knowledge and skills will not be sufficient for tomorrow's challenges. Demonstrate a commitment to lifelong learning.

Here is a summary of our rush plays:

-  "I'm going to class at night to get my MBA from Georgia Tech - graduation is May 2017!"
- Jandro Medina
-  "I'm attending KSU for my EMBA; my expected graduation is April 2018!" – Jake Otto
-  "In December, I will be graduating with my Bachelors in Finance." – Jacob Matthews

Being a lifelong learner is what it's all about!

For this new week, our focus is on communicating verbally and in written form in a clear and direct way. Let's take it to the end zone again!

Be a Communication Master: Say what you mean by being clear with direct requests. Write and speak in a way that your audience can understand. Make sure you address issues only with those who have the ability to help you solve them. Use "I" statements not "we." Only speak on behalf of yourself.

Check in with us again next week to find out all the ways we represent this behavior during our next Monday huddle! And, be sure to comment on our website about all you are doing to live out these fundamentals!
